Georgia Newspapers during Ratification

Two weekly newspapers were published in Georgia during 1787. They were The Georgia State Gazette or Independent Register published in Augusta by John E. Smith, the state printer, and The Gazette of the State of Georgia published in Savannah by James Johnston, a former Loyalist. Although both publishers appear to have been nonpartisan, most newspaper items they published supported the ratification of the Constitution.

Original source: Ratification by the States, Volume III: Delaware, New Jersey, Georgia, and Connecticut