A gentleman from Rhode-Island informs us, that the General Assembly of that state sat last week at South-Kingston, and adjourned, without taking any procedure on the new Constitution—offering as a reason therefor, that it had already got to the people through the channels of newspapers, &c. and that the people might consider it as they thought best—and if they pleased to, might adopt it. Is this conduct suited to the dignity of the Legislature of a sovereign State? Or is it the “loose” proceeding of a time-serving assembly of mobmen?—O shame, where is thy blush?
