Alphabetical List of State Convention Delegates

This list contains the names of the 1,989 delegates to all fifteen state ratifying conventions which includes two North Carolina conventions and the Vermont convention of 1791. Following each name is a designation of the delegate's vote on the Constitution:

- (Y) indicates voting to ratify
- (N) opposition to ratification
- (A) indicates absence or abstinence from voting
- (NV) not voting
- (Vacated) indicates the seven delegates who were unseated by an election committee of the first North Carolina Convention.

Delegates to the first North Carolina Convention voted on the report of the committee not to ratify the Constitution without amendments. An (Antifed.) designation indicates that the delegate voted in favor of the report not to ratify without amendments, while a (Fed.) designation indicates that the delegate opposed the report. If the North Carolina delegate represented both state conventions, the votes in both are indicated. Following the voting designation, the district from which each delegate was elected is then listed either by town, county, or parish followed by the state.

The list does not include the 2,949 freemen who voted in the Rhode Island referendum that defeated the Constitution on 24 March 1788. For a list of these Rhode Island voters, see RCS:R.I. index or in the DHRC Cumulative Name Index (DHRC Vol. XXXV, pp. 357–67) in which the names are arranged alphabetically within each of the state's thirty towns.
